Kennedy Die Castings Acquires Connecticut Die Casting Company

Release Posted on Friday, March 14, 2003

Released on Friday, March 14, 2003

Kennedy Die Castings, a Worcester, Massachusetts based company that manufactures die cast components and sub assemblies for the industrial, electronic, telecommunication and computer industry announced the purchase of Engineers Tool and Manufacturing Company, Inc. of Stratford, CT.

In the acquisition, finalized in February, Kennedy purchased the ongoing business and certain assets of Engineers Tool and Manufacturing, a zinc die casting company producing similar products. According to Vice President and General Manager, Joseph Deliso, the acquisition will enlarge Kennedy's customer base in zinc based products and further expand its presence in the markets of New York, New Jersey and South Eastern Pennsylvania. In September of 2001, Kennedy acquired Unimatic Manufacturing, an aluminum die casting company located in Fairfield, New Jersey. Kennedy will be absorbing the Connecticut operations which has 20 employees into its Worcester facilities over the next two months. Kennedy employs approximately 225.
